AR Emerging Architecture shortlist revealed

23 October, 2018

The 14 shortlisted architects, including emerging practices from around the world, will have the opportunity to present their projects in person to our judging panel at the World Architecture Festival in Amsterdam

We are delighted to announce the 14-strong shortlist for the 2018 AR Emerging Architecture awards. Shortlisted architects will have the opportunity to present their projects to the judging panel which includes Spanish architect Ángela García de Paredes of Paredes Pedrosa, winners of the original 1999 AR Emerging Architecture awards, Indian architect and AR House 2010 winner Gurjit Singh Matharoo, and Ronald Rietveld of RAAAF, winners of the 2013 AR Emerging Architecture awards.

With the AREA awards now in their 20th year, the judging process and award celebrations will be held at WAF from 28–30 November in Amsterdam. The winner will receive a £10,000 prize – and, alongside the shortlisted projects, will be published in a special edition of The Architectural Review.

The AR Emerging Architecture awards support architects at a key moment in their career, placing them on a global stage and promoting their work to the world. Previous winners of the awards have included Sou Fujimoto, Thomas Heatherwick, Sean Godsell, Jürgen Mayer H, Anna Heringer, Shigeru Ban, Li Xiaodong and Frida Escobedo.
